ABSTRACT

An electronic device assembly for dense mounting of electronic devices and method of connecting the electronic devices are disclosed.

Conductive portions implemented by metal bumps and sealing portions implemented by adhesive seal resin are connected by thermocompression at the same time between two electronic devices. This may be repeated between three or more electronic device.